

THE CHICAGO CONVENTION.

Appeal of the National Union Committee to the People of the United States.

HEADQUARTERS NATIONAL UNION COMMITTEE, New York, Sept. 9, 1864.

The great Rebellion, which for more than three years has wrung the nation in the flames of civil war, draws near its crisis. Its armies have been beaten, its territory has been conquered, the forts and posts which it treacherously seized have been occupied and held by the soldiers of the Republic, its foreign allies have been detached from its support, and its hostile arm, paralyzed by exhaustion and discouraged by defeat, is upheld solely by the hope of political victories to be achieved by its allies in the Presidential election of November next.

If the People in that election sustain the Government, if they reassert its just authority and reaffirm their purpose to maintain it by war so long as war assails it, the Rebellion will speedily end. If they falter in this determination, or leave any room for doubt on this vital point, the Rebels will take fresh courage and prolong the contest. Every utterance of their organs and their agents affirms and confirms this position. Every Rebel organ and every Rebel officer—every Rebel organ in the Rebel States or in foreign lands—every hater of Democratic Freedom and the Rights of man, longs and labors for the overthrow of the administration and the expulsion of Abraham Lincoln from the Presidential chair.

In the Northern and Western States this hostility has been embodied and organized in the acts and declarations of the Chicago Convention. That Convention gave a silent approval of the rebellion itself, and an open condemnation of the war waged for its suppression. Without a word of censure for the conspirators who plotted the nation's death, it brands with unflinching denunciation the patriots and heroes who defend its life. While it passes in utter silence the gigantic usurpations of Jefferson Davis and his confederate traitors, while it overlooks entirely, and thus, by just and necessary inference, approves their abrogation of political rights and personal liberties over all that portion of the United States in which they have been able thus far to sustain their usurped authority, it pours out its wrath, without stint or measure, upon every act by which the Constitutional President of the United States has sought to defend and protect the life and liberties of the nation, whose executive power is placed in his hands.

That Convention had no words of exaltation for our victories; no thanks and honors for the soldiers and sailors who have shed their blood to achieve them. While it denounces our Government for neglect of duty toward our "fellow-citizens, who are now, and long have been, prisoners of war in a suffering condition," it has not even a syllable of censure for those Rebel authorities who, with more than savage cruelty, and in utter disregard of every dictate of humanity, as well as of every usage of civilized warfare, have deliberately and with systematic purpose inflicted upon those prisoners all the tortures of exposure, of neglect and starvation, and have offered premiums for their murder to the brutal guards to whose grim custody they have been consigned. And, on the very eve of the most glorious victories that have ever crowned our arms—after three years of bloody, costly and successful war, when three-fourths of the territory originally held by the Rebels has passed into our hands; at the very moment when the Rebellion itself is tottering to its fall, and the flag of our country is rapidly advancing to its old supremacy, the party represented at Chicago demands that "immediate efforts be made for a cessation of hostilities"—a step which would instantly arrest our conquering armies and snatch from them the glories of a final triumph, repeal the blockade, and throw the whole Rebel frontier open to the supplies they so sorely need, secure the recognition of foreign powers, and either accomplish their independence or give them the ability to fight for it four years longer.

We appeal to the people of the United States—lovers of the Union and friends of Freedom—against the consummation of the foul crime against both which the acts and declarations of the Chicago Convention involve. We invoke them not to sanction these principles and sentiments by electing the candidates put forward to represent them. We implore them, as they love their country, as they seek the renewed integrity of its territory, as they desire the peaceful protection of its flag, and the blessings of its free institutions and its equal laws for themselves and their posterity, not to arrest the blow which is just ready to descend upon the Rebellion now tottering to its fall, not to give the Rebels time to renew their strength for fresh conflicts; not to aid those who would aid them in overthrowing our Government, in destroying our Union, in plunging into a chaos of anarchy the great communities of which the Constitution makes one great and glorious Nation, and in thus extinguishing, finally and forever, the hopes of all who have faith in Freedom and the Rights of Man.

We call upon the People to bear in mind that, by whatever sophistries they may cloak their purposes, the Chicago Convention neither condemns the action of the Richmond Rebels, nor proposes of force, them against their will, or by any exercise of force, from the seats of power they have usurped. In all essential respects the action that Convention took accords with the results the Rebels seek. Both desire a cessation of hostilities. Both denounce, with unflinching bitterness, the Government of the United States, and both alike seek its overthrow. Both demand that the attempt to conquer armed Rebellion by force of arms shall be abandoned. And both demand that, when the Government of the United States has passed into the hands of men opposed to an armed defense of the Government against rebellion, the war shall end by peaceful conference of these allied powers. What more than this could the Rebels ask or need for the consummation of all their plans? We call upon the People to bear in mind that, if they elect the candidates of the Chicago Convention, they arrest the Government in the execution of its plans and purposes on the very eve of their fulfillment, and one-third of a year before any new administration can take its place. The interval will be one of hope and confidence for the Rebels, and of exaltation for their allies in the loyal States. In the Western States armed preparations have already been made by the disciples and advocates of secession, to follow the example of the South, and sever the West from the Federal Union. The success of the Chicago programme in November, will be the signal for carrying these designs into execution; and the fourth of March will dawn upon a new Western confederacy, aiming at independence, defying the power of the national arms, and cooperating with the slave power of the Southern States in blotting from existence the free Republic of the Western world.

We call upon the People to crush all these schemes, and to brand their authors and allies with their lasting reprobation. We call upon them to support the Government, to quell the rebellion, to defend and preserve the Union. We call upon them to stand by the President, who, under circumstances of unparalleled difficulty, has wielded the power of the nation with unflinching courage and fidelity, with integrity which even calumny has not dared to impeach, and with wisdom and prudence upon which success is even now stamping the surest and the final seal. His election will proclaim to the world the unaltered and unalterable determination of the American People to quell the rebellion and save the Union. It will strike down forever the false hopes and expectations of the Rebel Government, and proclaim to the people of the Rebel States that their only hope of peace lies in abandoning their hostility to the Government and resuming their allegiance to the Constitution and Laws of the United States.

We call upon the Union Committees and the Union Leagues, and upon all loyal associations in every State, County and Town, to perfect their organizations; to infuse fresh vigor and activity into their operations; to canvass carefully and promptly their respective districts; to circulate Documents and Newspapers containing just and forcible expositions of the merits of our cause; to combat by assemblies of the people in public meetings, by public speeches, by conversation, by letters and personal appeals, and in all just and proper modes, the deceptive and perilous sophistries of the agents and political allies of the rebellion. Let them be on their guard against the arts of corruption and of intrigue which will be brought, with unscrupulous desperation, to bear upon them. The Rebel Government, and those Foreign Powers most deeply interested in our destruction, could well afford to expend millions in overthrowing this administration, and placing in power the nominees and representatives of the Chicago Convention.

The skies are bright and full of promise. The lion-hearted citizen-soldiers of the Republic march with steady step and unflinching purpose to a speedy and glorious victory. The heart of the people beats true to the Union. Every triumph of the Union arms over the Rebel troops arouses afresh the courage and confidence of Union men, and chills the heart and decimates the ranks of the submission secessionists represented at Chicago. A Union victory in November will end the long and laborious strife. It will paralyze the arm of the Rebellion. It will disperse its armies, destroy the hope by which the despotism at Richmond now holds its subjects in bondage, release the people of the Southern States from their enforced disloyalty, and give them again the blessings of self-government within the Union and under the protecting Constitution and Flag of the United States. It will enable our own government to exchange the weapons of war for the counsels of peace, to relax the stern control over public action and public speech which a state of war renders unavoidable, to restore our financial system, to dissolve all military courts, and hand over again to the civil tribunals of justice the punishment of crime and the preservation of public order, and to restore to their firesides and their homes, clothed with honors and to be held in everlasting remembrance, that great army of our citizen-soldiers who have bared their breasts against armed rebellion, and won the imperishable renown of saving the glorious Union, for which their fathers and their brothers died.

Theaters, etc.

Wallack's Theater will open for the season on Monday next, when Dion Boucicault's comedy "The Fox Chase" will be produced. In the course of a few weeks a drama, said to be entirely new, and the work of an American, will be introduced, which, in time, is to be followed by another of Mr. Boucicault's comedies. Beyond this the purposes of the management are unrevealed, excepting in regard to occasional repetitions of "Rosenda," and the revival of a number of standard comedies.

At the Olympic Theater, "Miriam's Crime" continues to attract good audiences. The afterpiece for the week is "Jenny Lind," in which Mrs. John Wood's cleverness has the best possible chance for making itself conspicuous.

Mr. Edwin Forrest plays in "Coriolanus" four nights of the week, at Niblo's Garden. Mr. Wheatley, with "The Duke of Melfi," occupies the others.

Mr. John S. Clarke's performance in "Everybody's Friend" and "The Toolmaker," at the Winter Garden, still bring together overflowing audiences every night.

Yallon's Stereoscopic is again on exhibition for a limited period, at Irving Hall.

The dramatic season at Burtons Museum has opened flourishingly. A masonic drama is represented each afternoon, and two light and popular comedies each evening.

THE UNSUCCESSFUL BURGARS.—We omitted to state in our notice yesterday of the burglary at Chas. W. Baker's, 29 Beekman-st., that both the safes were made by Marvin &amp; Co., 302 Broadway, and only their expert strength preserved the large amount of money in them. As Mr. Baker has been twice burned out, and preserved his books each time in their safes, he certainly has reason to place implicit confidence in them.

Dr. W. H. CROGG—Dear Sir: I have been suffering for a long time with what physicians call Diseases of the PROSTATE GLAND, and RETENTION OF URINE, and was unable to obtain any relief until I used CROGG'S WATER, which began to produce its curative effect after taking one or two doses, and no man can be more grateful than I at the result, having suffered all that a man could suffer, and live, and rather than be deprived of the medicine, I would be willing to pay FIFTY DOLLARS a bottle for it.

My district has been cured by it, and I would recommend everybody suffering from any disease of the kidneys to use this Constitution Water.
